10th Sunday in Ordinary Time Blameless Not Blamers

If you spend any amount of time around young children, you will quickly realize that they like to pass the blame. What are they trying to accomplish with this behavior? They are trying to get out of trouble, but where do they learn this behavior?

The short answer is from our first parents, the founders of Original Sin. In today's first reading, we see Adam passing the blame to Eve, who then passes the blame to the serpent. While neither of them were untruthful, they were definitely trying to avoid punishment.

Although we might be tempted to let this first reading get us down, the second reading reminds us of God's promise of redemption: "the one who raised the Lord Jesus will raise us also... Therefore, we are not discouraged..."

That is why we can exclaim with joy, "Oh happy fault, Oh necessary sin of Adam, which gained for us so great a Redeemer!" Because of Adam's sin, Jesus came down from heaven to save us. But not only did he save us, he made us members of his own family: "For whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother."

Knowing we are members of God's family should motivate us to end the cycle of blaming. It should encourage us to humbly accept our faults, confess our sins and seek to be blameless in God's sight. It should drive us to instead lift others up by sharing the good news of God's unconditional love. Let's take one small step toward making that happen today. Tami Urcia

Décimo Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario Ser sin culpa, no echar la culpa

Si has pasado algún tiempo con niños pequeños, rápidamente te darás cuenta de que a ellos les gusta echar la culpa. ¿Qué están tratando de lograr con este comportamiento? Están tratando de salir del problema, pero ¿dónde aprenden este comportamiento? La respuesta corta es de nuestros primeros padres, los fundadores del Pecado Original. En la primera lectura de hoy, vemos a Adán culpando a Eva, quien luego le echa la culpa a la serpiente. Si bien ninguno de los dos mintió, definitivamente intentaban evitar el castigo.

Aunque podamos sentirnos tentados a dejar que esta primera lectura nos desanime, la segunda lectura nos recuerda la promesa de redención de Dios: "aquel que resucitó a Jesús nos resucitará también a nosotros... Por esta razón no nos acobardamos..."

Por eso podemos exclamar con alegría: "¡Oh feliz culpa, oh pecado necesario de Adán, que nos ganó tan grande Redentor!" Debido al pecado de Adán, Jesús descendió del cielo para salvarnos. Pero no sólo nos salvó, sino que nos hizo miembros de su propia familia: "Éstos son mi madre y mis hermanos. Porque el que cumple la voluntad de Dios, ése es mi hermano, mi hermana y mi madre".

Saber que somos miembros de la familia de Dios debería motivarnos a poner fin al ciclo de echar la culpa. Debería animarnos a aceptar humildemente nuestras faltas, confesar nuestros pecados y tratar de ser sin culpa ante los ojos de Dios. Debería impulsarnos a animar a los demás compartiendo la buena nueva del amor incondicional de Dios. Demos un pequeño paso para que eso suceda hoy. Tami Urcia
